Where the rainbow ends
There's going to be a place, brother,
Where the world can sing
all sorts of songs,
And we're going to sing
together, brother

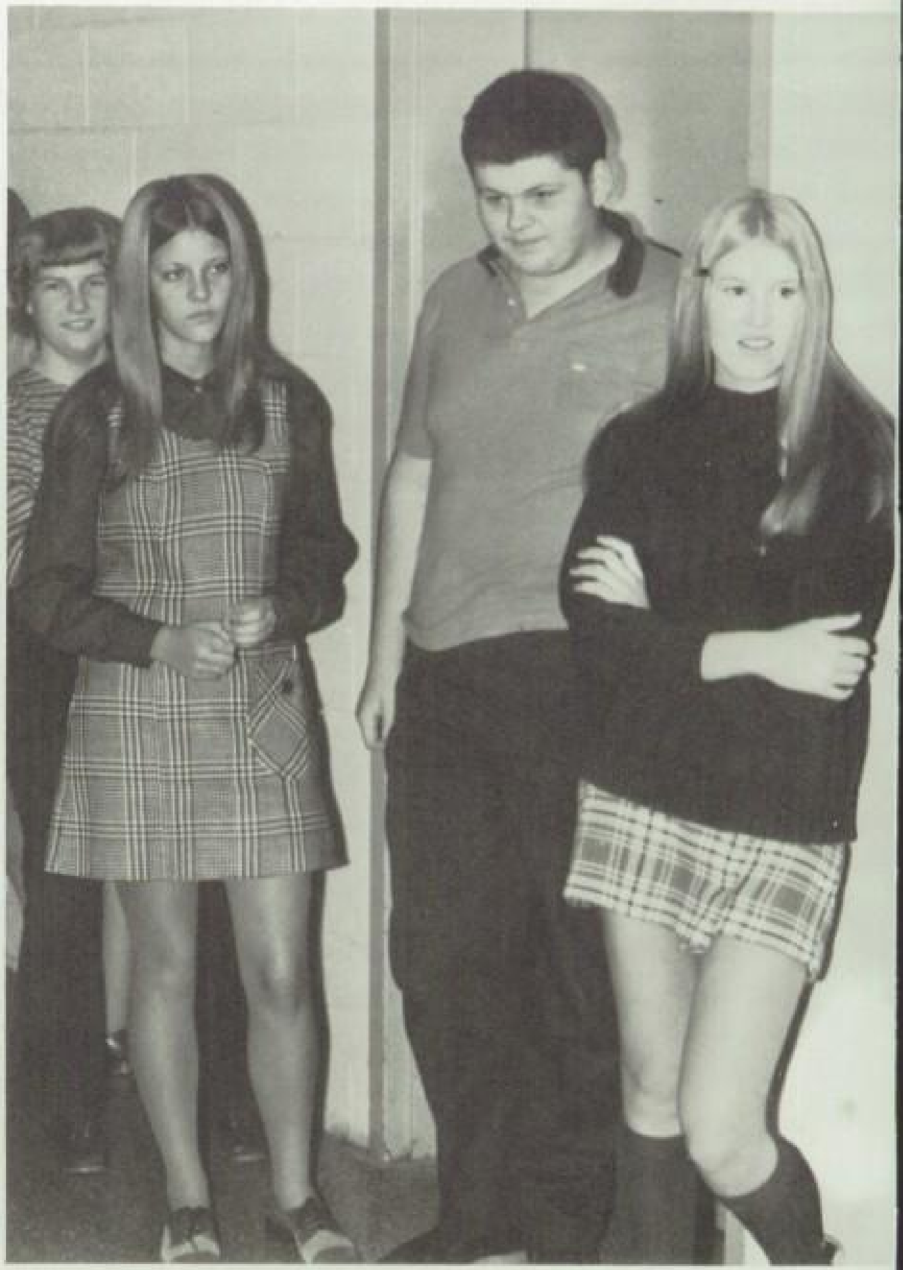
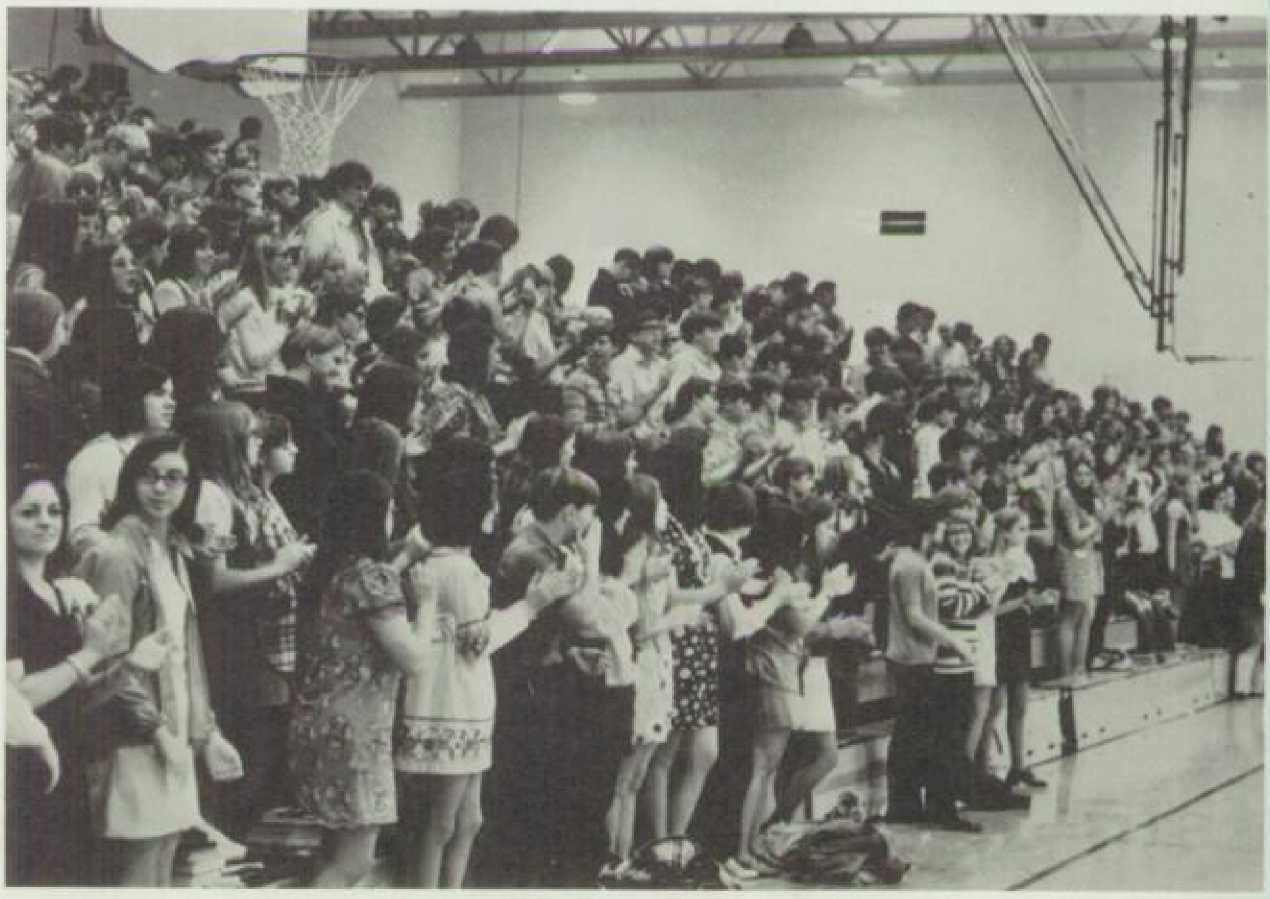
In class . . . between class . . . after class . . . we begin the school year on our own. We each enter the building in September with our own particular aspirations and apprehensions. As the days slip away, schedules and room arrangements become second nature and almost automatic. Amid the confusion of the first days, we study, create, and learn, apart from each other; each person in his own world. Everyone is new, even the upperclassmen. The days change us, we become new people as the school year begins to bring us together.

GO GET 'EM COLTS
JRG KSD PAEC





In the passing weeks we begin to experience many things in groups. Homework is easier when two people search for the answer. Waiting for a T.B. test to be checked or a picture to be taken can be less nerve racking when there are friends or acquaintances in line. Decorating a room is always more enjoyable with friends, and pep rallies bring a pleasant and noisy end to a quiet or perhaps tedious week.

We are here together, and we make the most of our time by experiencing much as we can, whenever we can.

Assemblies break up the daily routine. By our attendence at these assemblies we are able to give a speaker a favorable impression or a feeling of utter failure. Just as we participate in the enjoyable aspects of school life, so we must be a part of those less enjoyable aspects. Together we caused the particular speaker to leave Cloverleaf with his head hung in shame. We failed Larry Barnett miserably! Learning, however, is one major reason for a school system. The fiasco that resulted from our lack of consideration should have taught us one thing: no matter what a speaker's topic, no matter how interesting, we owe him our attention, if for no other reason than that he is a human being - who deserves common courtesy when he has something to say. Let us ALL learn and be better for it.

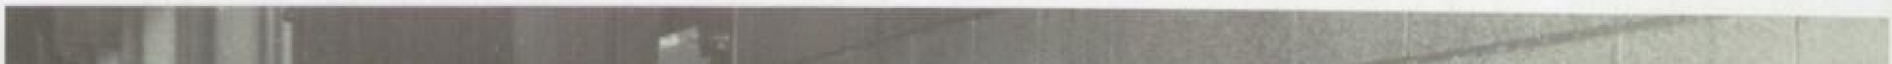
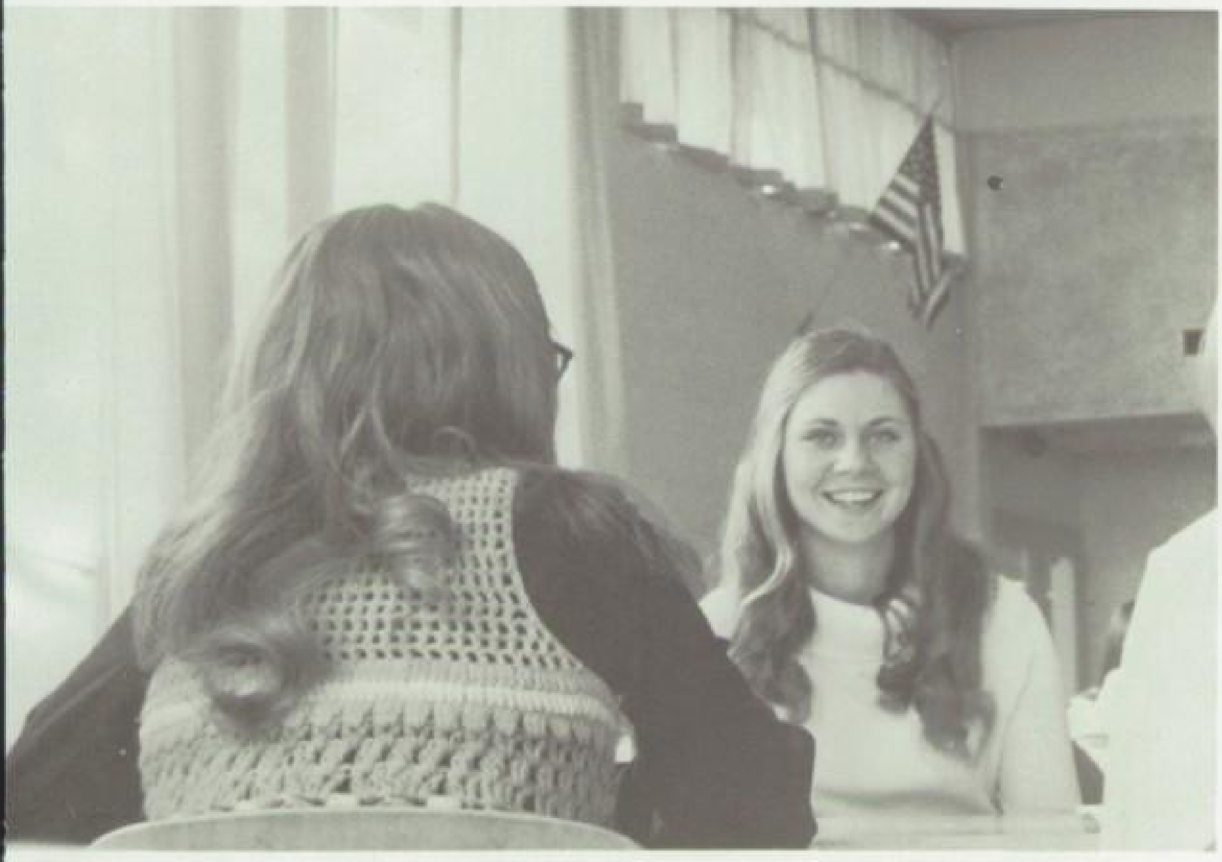
GYMNASIUM
NO DRINKS IN GYM

The proverbial "universal smile" is protrayed at Cloverleaf. Happiness is being with your friends in or out of class. Even a preschooler finds life at Cloverleaf exciting. The preschooler quickly learns that it is wiser to bring his own lunch. Part of the enjoyment of being in chemistry class is starting and putting out fires. Even if the school day isn't perfect, the students leave with a smile.





Remember me when I have gone,
Gone far from this friendly place.
Departed, alone, for a world that is Entirely new to me.
Remember the laughter and tears I shared.
Remember the cheers and chants
When my voice blended with yours to help
Our team to victory.
Remember the quiet moments
And fears of "Life" outside these walls,
Away from all that has become familiar.
Remember what I shared with you
So that it became ours.
   Remember.
In the midst of the haze that the passing
Years will bring, I shall take a moment
To return to a life that long ago disappeared.
I shall remember laughter, tears, chants,
And fears of "Life" outside these walls,
And I shall smile. Because these memories
Will be indelibly implanted in my heart.
Just as the cheer I shout, the tear I cry,
All that I do today is implanted in my mind;
   Eternally.

No matter what we Cloverleaf students do, whether it be during school or after school or even after graduation, we are together. The crowds, the practices, the classes brought us together. The memories we have of those activities keep us together. As a student body, we will be here, together for many years to come.

Activities

Throughout the year, the students of Cloverleaf come together and work together in a wide range of activities. Involvement in these school functions provides a good opportunity for students to learn how to cooperate and share ideas in order to succeed in reaching their goals.

The 1972 Homecoming Queen, Kathy Daly, gives the game ball to senior tri-captain Ted Gordon during pre-game activities. Kathy reigns regent as West Holmes falls in defeat 28-0.

"The Year Of The Colt" Proved True

"The Year of the Colt" was the theme for the eleventh annual Homecoming at C.H.S. which was sponsored by the G.A.A. Queen Kathi Daly was escorted to the festivities by football tri-captain Ted Gordon. The queen's court consisted of Senior attendents Betsy Shearer, escorted by Dave Oglilvy and Barb Over, escorted by Jeff Patterson. Junior attendents were Vicki Grimm, escorted by Bill McKee, and Beth Broadwater escorted by Scott Chrislip. The sophomore attendents were Carol Bruffy, escorted by Roger Bise, and Terri Daly, escorted by Rick Fulton.

The gym was decorated in the spirit of football. A new touch to the festivities was an all-night showing of scenes of football games including the band, pom pom girls, and cheerleaders.

The game was just as exciting with a 28-0 victory for our colts. Kurt Gibbs led the team with three touchdowns and rushed for 207 yards. This left the Colts with a 22-0 score at halftime. The last score came in the fourth quarter when Jeff Patterson galloped 69 yards for a touchdown. The whole team did a fine job in showing West Holmes that it was "The Year of the Colt."

Dave Ogilvy provides the blocking as Dan Richards gains important yardage in the Homecoming game.

Amid the excitement of the Homecoming Dance, Kathy Daly and Ted Gordon retain their composure.

The four main characters of the play were, left to right: Sherri Billups as Gloria, Janice Grossenbacher as Opal, Hendley Hoge as Sol, and Eric Gardner as Brad.

Everybody Loves Opal

The seniors once more pooled their efforts to present the class play, "Everybody'Loves Opal." Due to set contruction difficulties, the play was presented at Westfield Auditorium. Adding to the problems were the inevitable absences due to football, clubs, and homework, not to mention the problem of memorizing lines.

Janice Grossenbacher who played Opal, headed the cast of seven characters. She did a fine job and had the "real genuine" approval of the audience. Sherri Billups, Hendley Hoge, and Eric Gardner played three crooks who planned to insure Opal and then murder her for the money. Hendley was hilarious in the hit-and-run scene and Eric and Serri were beautifully cast. Tom Smucker and Dan Richard played the insurance doctor and policeman. Dan was the average policeman who always happened along at the wrong time.

We can not forget the efforts of the people backstage. Miss Tschudy directed the play with excellence. She was aided by Sue Cole, the Production coordinator, and Randy Jameyson, the Technical Director.

"Mr. Tanner, let me get you a nice fresh piece of stale liver."

Brad woos Gloria, "Thou art the eyes with which I weep."

Night With The Arts

This year that talented group of actors and actresses, the Theaterians, tried to revive the dropping theatrical participation of the student body. To achieve this, they presented the two one-act plays "He's Dead All Right," directed by Linda Bloch. The Plays were preformed to give the students of C.H.S. a taste of the dramatic arts. The Stage Band entertained between shows.

Both plays were well recieved by the audience. Fine performances were given by Lynn Foth and Don Gottlieb, aided by Bruce McKnight and Jack Gordon, in "He's Dead All Right." "The Storm," featuring Jenny Wood and Lance Craner put an atmosphere of mystery and suspense on the evening.

"He's Dead All Right" is a comical spoof about a young housewife who kills her husband and anyone else who gets in her way. "The Storm" is a mysterious and exciting drama about a revenge-crazed man (Randy Jameyson) who wants to destroy the man who killed his wife and daughter. The wife and daughter return from the grave, to try to talk the "hunter" for his revenge.

Altogether the evening was a big success and it would be worthwhile to have theater presentations more often in the future.

The Speelmans Present Civil War Artifacts

The Speelman brothers, two avid collectors of Civil War artifacts, visited Cloverleaf High School for a day. They presented an assembly in the morning to acquaint students with the common footsoldier of the Civil War. They had a forty-five minute program explaining some of the articles and weapons used. Some times they asked people from the audience to help demonstrate an article. Mr Hofstetter, our band director, played "Taps" and "Reveille" on the bugle that had been used during the Civil War.

After they presented the program to the high school and later to the junior high, the Speelman brothers set up their displays in the library. Students then could look at them closely and ask any questions they might have about this interesting collection.

Anyone For Law And Order?

With the help of Mr. Wiedeman's social Studies classes, the administration presented an assembly on law. Fortunately one of his students, Alice Kiba, happened to know most of the Akron Police Force. Her father is a captain on the force. The Policemen showed two movies and participated in several skits showing police methods.

Several students and faculty members helped in the skits. One example was how to handle a student riot, including making some arrests. They also arrested Mr. Krisko for attempting to attack Miss Techudy. The highlight of the assembly was when the policemen picked up Mr. Kozy and Mr. Clark for drunkenness.

Gay 90's Brought To C.H.S. Prom

The class of 73 has topped them all. This year the junior class of Cloverleaf High School went all out to put together one of the most elaborate and best proms ever held. Led by class advisor Mr. Kovach and class president Steve Wanko, the Juniors built a little town from the "Gay Nineties". This included an old-fashioned candy store featuring sweet tooth fancies, an ice cream parlor which used authentic plastic fountain glasses, and the Bijou Theater. Classic silent movies shown included "The Great Train Robbery" and clips from the immortal Charlie Chaplin.

In the center of their little town, the juniors built a park straight out of the 1890's. This park contained a wrought iron garden seat, a lovely fountain, and a vineentwined gazebo surrounded by flowers. They also had a swing nearby held up with vinecovered ropes that was popular for picture-taking.

Over the dance floor, a carrousel revolved slowly while coples danced to The Expressions.

At 12:00 the car caravan left for the post prom at the Akron Coliseum. Entertainment consisted of bowling, playing pool, putt-putt golf, pinball machines, and listening to the rock group, Torwood Power. Early in the morning a magician performed.

Some of his more interesting tricks were ones in which he used members of the audience. At 5:00 A.M. every one got back into the car caravan to return to the school to pick up their clothes. Then they went to get some breakfast or home to take a welldeserved nap.

Rusty Locke and Debbie Tucker found that the fountain was an enjoyable place to sit and relax.

The Music Man "Outstanding!"

The drama department, led by Miss Tschudy, and the music department, directed by Mr. Jewell, united to present THE MUSIC MAN on May 11, 12, and 13. Starting practice in March, sixty talented students began working for the presentation. The publicity, costume, ticket, prop, set construction, lighting and stage crews began working immediately for this spectacular show. Meanwhile, the cast began learning lines, singing songs, and dancing.

THE MUSIC MAN is a story about a traveling conman who pretends to be Professor Harold Bill, played by Kevin Rice. He travels to small towns selling band instruments and uniforms. Professor Hill comes to River City, Iowa, intending to swindle the citizens. He meets the music teacher, Marian Paroo, played by Debbie Woodring, who discovers he is a phoney. Nevertheless, she falls in love with him. When the townspeople discover that Harold is a fake, Marian defends his actions. The plan to tar and feather Hill, however, is completely forgotten as the Boy's Band marches into the town square playing their instruments.

Combining all of their talents, Cloverleaf students presented an outstanding performances as acclaimed by the public. Presenting these musicals yearly has become a tradition that we feel should be continued.

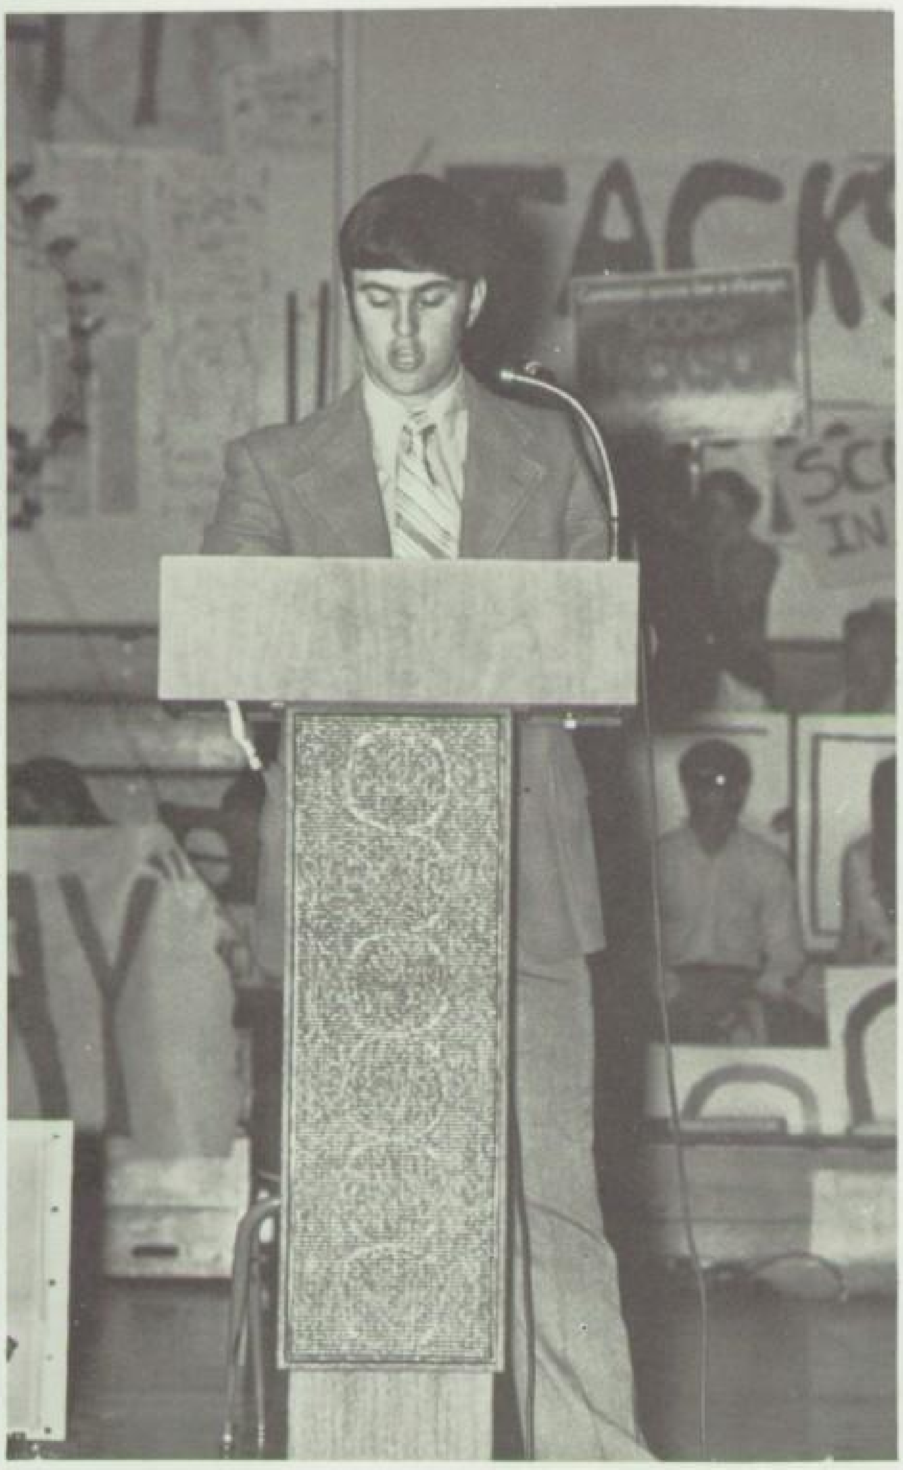
McGovern Wins Mock Primary

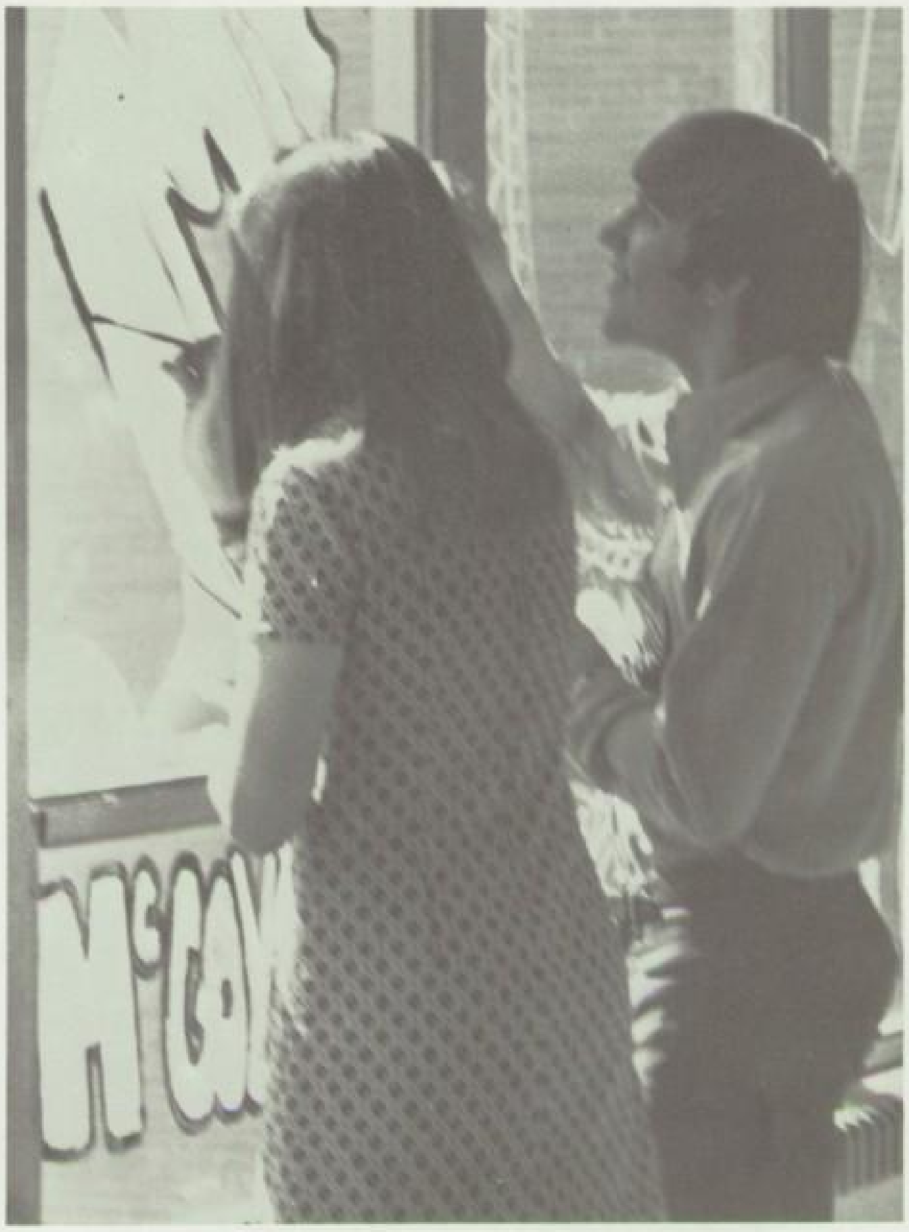
The Senior Social Studies teachers, Mr. Bruder and Mr. Wiedenman, decided to make a change in their curriculum at the end of the year. In order to acquaint students with the primary elections being held around the country, they decided to have a mock primary of their own. Each of six Senior Social Studies classes had a candidate and manager, who selected committees for research, the candidates' platform, and campaigning.

They had one week of preparation before the day planned for the primary. The different committees put up posters in the building, painted windows with such slogans as, "Humphrey Has Hair," and contacted the actual candidates' campaign headquarters for information. On May 1, the day before the election, the candidates each gave a speech to the school in a huge assembly. Tuesday, May 2nd, the election was held, with 60% of the student body voting. The last period class tallied the vote and McGovern won by a landslide. Henry "Scoop" Jackson came in next, and Humphrey third.

This was the first mock primary Cloverleaf Senior High has ever had and we think it helped a great deal in the understanding of our governmental process.



Rich Scholz, who took the part of Hubert Humphrey, gave one of the best speeches of the candidates.



Two supporters of McGovern appear to enjoy painting slogans on the windows.

"Don't pick your nose!" sung by Lynn Foth, was one verse from the song about the twelve years of school.

Seniors Worked; Students Enjoyed

The Senior Class of 1972 deceided to present a talent show rather than the traditional mocking skit. Feature acts included girls in a chorus line singing THE TWELVE YEARS OF SCHOOL, a piano and drum duet, a meeting of the Brotherhood of Craze, and a few impersonations. Louise Mellott performed as Edith Ann of Laugh In. Kevin Rice imitated some of Cloverleaf's more prominent teachers, including Mr. Murphy, Mr. Gruccio, and Mr. Bruder. Other scenes portrayed a visit to the doctor, an experience in a theater, a draft call announcer, and a rock and roll satire.

Never to be forgotten was the fantastic limbo dance done by Dan Balser. Amidst screaming girls and endless laughter from the audience, Dan executed the scene beautifully.

Following the acts, the seniors gathered on the gymnasium floor to give their farewell speech to Cloverleaf. After turning their rings and singing the Alma Mater, classes were resumed and the seniors dined for the last time in the cafeteria.

One of Kevin Rice's many impersonations was that of Mr. Bruder's classroom technique.

"Edith Ann", a star of Laugh In, portrayed by Louise Mellott, was very popular in the skit.

Young, innocent Marilyn Stager discusses her aliment with "dirty" old Doctor Jim Koppes.

Baccaleurate was held June 4, 8:00 P.M. in the gymnasium, Dr. Oliver R. Stang told the seniors in his message, "Lord, I Believe; Help Me" that to be a true believer they needed second sight, second birth, and second memory.

June 6, at 8:00 P.M. the class of 1972 marched into a packed gym and prepared to sit nervously through a ceremony which would end their high school careers. Before the Commencement exercises could begin, however, the class had to rearrange itself in proper alphabetical order. Mr. Clark, the students, and the audience took the mix-up in stride. It broke the formal atmosphere somewhat and became the joke of the year.

Samuel L. Meyer presented the address, "Is It Alive or Is It Dead?" saying the future of America is in the young people's hands. Scholarship awards were presented and the class prepared to receive their diplomas. At 9:15 P.M. the newest graduates of Cloverleaf Senior High School joyfully yet sadly left to try to find the right diplomas.

Athletics

For centuries, athletics have brought people together for a common goal . . . to strive for excellence. People mark down this struggle by making records. As long as there is a record to be broken and a new one to be set, men will meet to face this challenge. No matter how far the sphere was thrown, how fast the man has run, there will always be one man with enough desire enough perseverance to break the existing records.

Magnificent! That's the only way to describe Cloverleaf's Cross Country team. Although the team is only in its second year of existence, they confirmed that this was the "Year of the Colt" by posting a 6-0 dual-match record. In addition, they finished first in both the Sectionals and the Malone College Invitational, second in the Conference, third in the Mansfield Invitational, and fourth in the Ashland College Invitational. The team's only disappointment was finishing sixth in the District Meet. The first five teams go on to state competition and our team missed fifth place by only three points.

The co-captains for this year were Jeff Kelly, who finished third at Malone, and Marty Coudriet, who was voted as the most improved man on the team. The two runners who qualified for the State Meet in Columbus were Phil Minerich and Ron Hykes. Ron, who made the All-Conference squad, smashed the old home record of 10:31 with a time of 10:02 against Black River in the final meet of the season.

The team worked very hard this year and have earned a well-deserved place for corss country among the sports at Cloverleaf.

We Wanted, Worked, And Attained

After a very unimpressive 2-7-1 record last year, the 1971 Cloverleaf football team set their goals early. Their goal was for Cloverleaf to capture its first Chippewa Conference title. Little did they know at the time, that drive and determination behind their goal would thrust the team to an undefeated 10-0 season. Many records were broken, but probably the most important, the team attained its goal and Cloverleaf was now Chippewa Conference Champion for the first time in its ten year history.

Summer practice started early. The team and coaches worked very hard together to create an unbeatable team. The team went on the assumption that if you wanted something bad enough, and worked for it hard enough, you could get it, and that was the only way to get it. Based on that assumption, the team produced a dynamic offense and an unyielding defense that could not be stopped.

For years it has been said that Medina thought nothing of the Chippewa Conference; that, however, was changed in the season opener as the Colts romped over Medina 36-15. With that game, an old rival was defeated and the team was well on its way.

In the team's second contest, against Norwayne, a devastating offense rambled relentlessly over the field as Cloverleaf beat Norwayne 52-6.

The first real threat to the "Green Machine" came when Cloverleaf edged Manchester 13-6 in the third game of the year.

Again the team proved they could "put it all together" as they riddled the Northwest defense and offense with a well-played 51-6 victory.

It was after an impressive 14-6 conquest of Wadsworth, the team's first Chippewa Conference victory, that chants of "5 and 0 and 5 to go" started echoing through the halls. It was then that the team really saw hopes of a perfect season.

Before the next game, against Triway, in the interest of good spirit a small group of Triway students created a "victory trophy" and deposited it in front of the school. This "trophy," a purple Volkswagon body, was quickly painted green and transportation back to Triway was arranged. The losing team was to receive the "trophy" and keep it until the next season's match. It was deposited in the middle of the field after the Colts outdid the Titans with a 20-12 triumph. "Six and 0 and 4 to go."

Homecoming night the Colts proved this was truly "The Year of the Colt" as they stomped their opponents 28-0 in a well-played but very wet game "Seven and 0 and 3 to go."

Although the Colts beat Brunswick 22-6, it was very evident that the game was far from their best. "Eight and 0 and 2 to go."

The final, major threat to the drive for the Chippewa Conference title came to its demise as th Colts vanquished Orrville 22-7. "Nine and 0 and 1 to go."

An undefeated season was finally a reality after the Colts dazzled the Rittman defense with a superb 46-12 victory. "Ten and 0"!

"We're Number 1! We're Number 1!" could be heard loud and clear from the stands after our Final Conference game against Orville.

Colt B-Ballers Make The Grade

Basketball '72 managed to again illustrate that this was the "Year of the Colt" by racking up a record breaking 16-5 season.

During regular season play, the team's 14-4 record tied the old record set in 1969. After tournament play was completed, the Colts succeeded in breaking the 1969 record of 16-6.

After an early victory over Brunswick, the Colts just weren't ready for the competition presented them by the Rittman Indians.

The next game against Orrville proved to be a very exciting contest. The Colts held the lead through most of the game, but Orrville almost managed to pull it out in the last few minutes of play.

After two quick victories, against Highland and Copley, the team met its match when it hosted West Holmes. Although Cloverleaf lost, the score was close throughout the game.

With three victories under their belt, the team travelled to Triway to present a well-played, high-scoring game. During the game, senior Mark Chrislip set a new school record with 41 points scored in a single game.

There were two major reasons for the Colt's loss to Wadsworth. The most important was the tremendous game played by Wadsworth junior Jim Swain. The other was poor foul shooting on the part of the Colts.

After another quick victory over Brunswick, the Colts were to see defeat at Orrville. The Colts played a very good, high-scoring game, but it just wasn't enough to equal the 70% Orrville shot in the third quarter.

One week following the team's victory over Buckeye, the Colts were to give their best performance of the season. On Friday night they travelled to West Holmes and defeated their hosts in a well-played game. Returning to Cloverleaf on Saturday, they played another billiant game revenging the Rittman Indians. These victories not only boosted the team's record, but also their morale, being that both teams were state ranked.

Their spirit having been rejuvinated, they spirit having been rejuvinated, they had little trouble beating Triway and Wadsworth to finish the season with their 14-4 record.

During tournament play, the Colts, through two smashing victories, had little difficulty attaining the Sectional Title. They met their match in district play as they fell to Elyria Catholic 47-54, finishing with a season record of 16-5.

A Bright Future For Wrestling

By now it was evident that 1972 was the year for breaking records at C.H.S. To follow this record-breaking trend, the Colt Grapplers were able to compile a tremendous 9-3 dual match record. This was the best ever for wrestling at Cloverleaf.

The success of wrestling '72 lies mainly on the team's great mental preparation. "Total Commitment" provided their incentive while hard work and many hours of practice provided their driving force. The tri-captains Ron Hykes, Jim Ross, and Kurt Gibbs were given the job of harnessing the teams forces. Not only did they present fine leadership qualities at practices, but they also set fine examples on the wrestling mats. Ron, and Jim managed to have undefeated seasons in dual match play while Kurt managed to keep his loses down to four.

Wrestling this year started off with a slight advantage. Most of the men on the team had some sort of previous wrestling experience. Preparation for the 1972 season started almost immediately after the 1971 season ended. For those people interested in wrestling, there was weight-lifting and workouts to get them into top physical condition for the upcoming season.

The team made many fine showings in the tournaments they entered. Like most of the 1972 sports, wrestling provided a very exciting season to please its many spectators. After this season's play, wrestling looks to have a very bright future at C.H.S.

Inconsistency Hinders Cinders

If there was one word that could describe the 1972 track season it would be unsynchronized. It seemed as if a different record was set at almost every track meet; the trouble was the team just couldn't seem to get it all together at the same time. Out of a possible fifteen events, there were ten new records set. Even with all these records, the team could only manage to attain a 4-6 duel match record.

The team made respectable showings at all the tournaments they entered. They earned seconds at the Doylestown Invitational, the Triway Invitational, the Cloverleaf Invitational, and the Sectional meet. The team was only capable of getting a fourth in the Wooster Night Relays.

The head coach, Todd Clark, described the team's main problem as having "too many ups and downs." He said there were some very fine meets but some bad meets too. He also mentioned the team lacked consistancy, and said that would be one thing they would work on.

At the District Track Meet, Jim Ross placed second in the shot put, Scott Chrislip placed third in the high jump, and fifth in the low hurdles. These men qualified to go to the State Meet in Columbus. At this meet were some of the finest men in both track and field events in the state. Among these men, Jim was able to get eighth place in the shot while Scott got a third in the low hurdles.

After a short run, Scott Chrislip launches himself into the air.

Stiver Spurs On Colt Racketeers

Although tennis '72 had improved considerably, the team was still striving to rebuild. The twelve man team had only one returning letterman, senior Bob Stiver.

Tennis practice started early, and Coach Stupica was again faced with the task of creating a tennis team. After tennis season last year, Mr. Stupica went on a "great crusade" to find many sophomores and juniors who were interested in playing tennis. The purpose of this crusade was to build a team of experienced tennis players that would not leave after one year of play. Practices stressed on building endurance and utilizing proper tennis strategy to outwit their opponents. The teams efforts were rewarded as they finished with a 6-11 season record. This is not a school record, but it is a great accomplishment for the young tennis team.

The team's goals were few and very simple. The main goal was just to represent the school in the best manner possible, and to make a team worth watching. Also, they hoped to make this a year of recondstruction, a year to gain experience and improve.

In baseball '72, the stress was not placed on winning as much as on developing the young members of the team for next year. Although winning was not foremost in importance, the team posted a 10-10 season record which is the second best in the school's history. All the team members worked diligently and Coach Nichols was extremely pleased with the great amount of enthusiasm and effort they put forth.

One of the highlights of the year was the contest against Medina. The game went for eleven scoreless innings until Medina finally managed to win it 1-0.

Another highlight took place in the last week of the season when Cloverleaf defeated Budkeye, Highland, and Black River. The Colts scored a total of twenty-seven runs in the three games.

Individuals such as most valuable player Rich Scholtz, most improved players Ron Detwiler and Oave Ogilvy, and the three Colts who made the All-Conference squad, Greg Thomas, Jerry Allen, and Dave Houston, were a great asset to the team. But it was the team working as a whole which made 1972 a successful season.

Hopes are high for an even more outstanding season next year. Eight lettermen will be returning. Only then will it be known if all of this year's building for the future has paid off.

Golfers Defend Sectional Title

Since its beginning, golf at C.H.S. has always been one of the more successful sports. This year proved to be no exception as the team finished the season with a 14-9 dual match record. In tournament play, the team made an excellent showing. But the highlight of the season had to be the team's successful defense of their Sectional title.

Although a bit erratic at the beginning of the season, the Colt golfers managed to win 8 out of their last 10 matches.

Practices started early this year, and as usual they started at Knollbrook Country Club in Lodi. After only a few weeks of practice at Knollbrook, the team's home course at Westfield Center was open and ready for action.

As was stated earlier, the highlight of the 1972 golf season was their great game at the Sectional tournaments. The four-man team of Greg Meadows, Mark Rennels, Dana Scheetz, and Dave Smith managed to again capture the Sectional Championship for Cloverleaf. This is the second year in a row the Colt team has won the Sectionals.

The Cloverleaf golfers also managed to place a respectable third in the Chippewa Conference. In the All Chippewa Conference Tournament, two Colt golfers, Greg Meadows and Dave Smith tied for places on the All Chippewa Conference team. Since only one of them was allowed on that team, there was a play-off match which Greg Meadows won.

Rich Scholtz received almost every honor that baseball could bestow, including most valuable player and most runs batted in.

The 1972 outstanding senior athlete of the year, Jim Ross, poses with just a few of the trophies he won during the spring sports season. While at Cloverleaf, Jim lettered in nine sport seasons.

Jim participated for three years in football, wrestling, and track. In football, he was outstanding in both defensive and offensive play and was named all county and all conference. He wrestled in the 185 pound weight class and was a tri-captain in his senior year. Jim set the school record in the shot put during his junior year and then broke it the following year. He also went to state competition in 1972.

Annual Staff Creates Bestseller

Marla Martienssen takes a well deserved rest from her labors on the EQUESTRIAN.

Classes were dismissed in June, 1971, for all but six students. During the summer these people: Linda Bloch, Louise Mellott, Terry Grigoriew, Sue Cole, John Wants, and Buzz Cohen, worked on the 1972 EQUESTRIAN. They attended journalism classes for one week at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. There they learned the fine arts of producting a quality yearbook. Various fields of journalism, such as photography and business management, in addition to good layout structure, are explored by students and instructors alike.

Following the week in Athens, the veteran staff members returned to plan the basics of the 1972 EQUESTRIAN. An advertising campaign was established; the book was enlarged to 200 pages; and an unifying theme, "Come Together," was incorporated to make the Equestrian more interesting.

When school commenced in the fall, many new ideas were added by the new staff members. They helped design the cover, drew most of the Layouts, and did considerable work.

The entire staff soon discovered that expressing ideas was, by far, much easier than getting the ideas to work properly.

Many hopes and plans had to be abandoned because of a shortage of money. Once again, there were some members who did all the work while others did very little. Only two fo the five deadlines were met. Under the concerned guidance of advisor, Mr. Ulrich, the last and most important deadline was met, next year's staff chosen, and an improved book was published. We, on the annual staff, hope you like the 1972 EQUESTRIAN.

While at O.U., John asks, "What do you think of striped shirts?" Buzz says, "Ohhh, that fourth pizza!" Sue says, "Look' at those darned hippies. Louise says, "Hey baby." Linda says, "John, get your knee out of my back."

Sue Avery comments, "Well, son of a seahorse! We made the deadline!"

Student Council Strives To Change

Student progress at C.H.S. has been the result of the efforts of our Student Council. Although they haven't accomplished everything they've set out to do, they've continued to work diligently for more student expression.

In order to gather different ideas of student expression, members of Student Council visited other schools in the area. This was reciprocated by other schools sending their Council members to tour our school.

The biggest project this year was the sponsorship of the annual canned food drive at Christmas. The sophomores collected 3,052 items of food, the Juniors gathered 3,228, and the Seniors topped them all with 3,666 items. In all, over 10,300 items were collected to make this the most successful drive ever sponsored.

In addition to this yearly project members of Student Council perform daily duties. They start each day off with morning announcements, and keep us informed of the week's activities by changing the bulletin boar each Monday.

Projects Lacking

The National Honor Society, advised by Mr. Stupica, is a select club which honors those students who excel in character, leadership, sholarship, and service. During the past year, qualifications for induction into the society has been stiffened. Qualifications now rely equally on service, leadership, and character as they do on scholarship.

The major downfall this year has been the lack of activities. Hope for a rock concert died when another area school put one on insted. The only projects that were accomplished this year were sponsoring a scholarship test, ushering for College Night at Medina Senior High and holding a successful bake sale to bring in money for gold cords for the graduating seniors. The induction procedure was changed and held in the evening.

We hope next year will see more projects attempted and carried through.

In honor study hall, Kathy Daly can study in peace.

Theaterians Visit New Philadelphia

The Theaterian membership grew this year due to the magnetic personality of the advisor, Miss Tschudy. It took some time at the beginning of the year to get the club started because of the senior member's participation in the class play. The club finally got some activities started after Christmas vacation.

The members of the club presented a night of one-act plays at which the Stage Band also entertained. That program was a great success for the actors and Stage Band. The attendance of the student body, however, left something to be desired. The year was also highlighted with a trip to the "Little Theater" in New Philadelphia to see the musical CABARET. Many members of Miss Tschudy's drama class also attended the show.

Altogether it was an educational and entertaining year for the Theaterians.

Thespians Host Drama Festival

The International Thespian Society is an honorary organization for those students who have earned a specified number of points. In order to accumulate points a member of the Theaterians participates in at least two plays. They can either act, direct, or work on a committee that contributes something to the production. Among the duties of the Thespian Society this year was hosting the Chippewa Conference Drama Festival.

This year the club had two inductions. The first was a formal induction of seven seniors who had worked on the Senior Class play. The second induction planned for the spring included many of the members of the cast of the musical. This was an informal induction planned with a picnic outing.

With increasing participation in the Theaterians, the Senior Class Play, and the spring musical, the membership of Cloverleaf Chapter 1205 of the International Thespian Society has become one of the largest in the history of the school.

A Common Bond Brought Success

The purpose of VICA is to unite in a common bond a students enrolled in trade, industrial, technical, and health education. VICA assists students in establishing realistic vocational goals. It helps students attain a purposeful life and creates enthusiasm for learning.

The purposes of VICA are symbolized by its emblem the Torch of Knowledge; the orbital circles representing technology and research, the gear as the traditional symbol of industry, and the untrained hands of youth reaching for the torch of knowledge.

This year the VICA Club donated food to needy fami lies on Thanksgiving and Christmas. The club served several local industries by drawing for them. VICA sponsered a public meeting with a guest speaker from NASA.

The common bond with which VICA unites its members, has helped bring about a very successful year.

Through the course of the year, the club has worked on money making projects. The purpose was to raise enough money for a banquet for all employers who participated in the program for one year. Plaques were given to two year employers. Vikki Rex was chosen as student of the year.

FFA Strives For Better Farming

Future Farmers of America is an organization that is turning out well-educated boys and girls who are contributing to the advancement of farming all over the United States. Our Cloverleaf chapter is working towards improving agricultural methods here in our area.

Besides working together as a club, the Future Farmers belong to their own specialized groups which form our chapter. These include studying Vocational Agriculutre and Agricultural Work Experience students.

Their activities include competing in district contests such as: parliamentary procedure, and livestock and soil judging.

"Project Pepe" Is Going Strong

The purpose of the Spanish Club is to present the opportunity for further and varied use of language and for learning more about the customs and culture of Spanish speaking people.

The motto of the Spanish Club is, Una Cosa es "decir", otra es "hacer", or One thing is to say, another is to do.

The Spanish Club had various activities including attending a stage play, "Man of la Mancha", at Ashland College. They also saw a Spanish movie, "Miguilin", at the University of Akron, and went to Akron to see the Mexican Folkloric Ballet.

The club had several bake sales to earn money for the club project, sponsoring the education of Pepe, a poor eight year old boy from Mexico.

Medical Arts Club Enlightens Future Nurses

This year the Medial Arts Club tried to put a little variety into their programs. They planned a visit to the hospital at Apple Creek. This was a highlight of the year since the trip is usually only made by the girls in F.H.A.

They also sponsored different speakers again this year, including a Medical Records Transcriber, a student X-ray technician, who was also a graduate of Cloverleaf, a nurse from Massilon City Hospital, and three members of the armed forces.

It was a very interesting year for the students who participated in the club and they hope that next year more people will join.

Maybe They'll All Be Teachers

The F.T.A. gives students interested in teaching the opportunity to practice the profession in the junior high and elementary schools. It also gives better understanding as to what the teaching profession demands. Student experience is attained by working cooperatively with the children.

The F.T.A. member has the chance to teach during the school day. Many times throughout the year he may be called upon to substitute for absent teachers. This provides a great service for the teachers and also a wellneeded experience for the F.T.A. members.

Homemakers Make The Scene!

The F.H.A. is a club made up of girls interested in a career in homemaking. The club this year was very active. They began their events by having a slumber party with the Black River Chapter at Wildwood Lakes.

Once again, the club devoted many hours to their Apple Creek Project. They made cookies and provided gifts for the crib patients.

A few girls went to the State Convention at Columbus where Kathy Craddock received her State Homemaking Degree. The Cloverleaf Chapter received the Award of Merit and was also honored as a Star Chapter.

"Good Grooming" — Part Of Initiation

The Girls Athletic Association, has grown to include over one hundred thirty girls. This fall thirty-six new members were initiated.

Homecoming was the year's biggest accomplishment. The theme was "Year of the Colt." Some girls worked hard to raise money as successful bake sales were held. As the time neared, more members pitched in to help with the activity. The girls decorated the gym with stars on the wall, floor, and tables. A large green and white horseshoe was the main decoration. Still pictures constantly flashing on the wall reminded everyone of the perfect football season. The girls sponsored the Heidelburg College Dance Band. Mums were provided for the boys to buy their girls for the Homecoming game.

Although activities have been few this year, we hope next year will hold more ideas for activities that will be carried out.

"Double Butcher!" Automatic, I Think

This year the senior girls battled the Medina Queen Bees to a scoreless tie. Practice started late in October, but was hindered by Homecoming, band, and pom pom practice. The game was scheduled for November 6 and the girls had only two short weeks to get it all together. Each day of practice brought more and more coaches and less players.

The evening of the big game was highlighted by two inches of snow that had fallen that day. The players carefully took the field and the first "Snow Bowl" in Cloverleaf history began. Bands from both Medina and Cloverleaf provided entertainment at halftime.

Hopefully next year's senior girls will share the fun and excitement combined with effort and teamwork experienced by this year's team.

Girls' Softball Team "Strikes Out"

Although hampered by numerous injuries and a small turn out of girls, the fillies track team was marked by their enthusiasm throughout the season. One of their basic needs was equipment such as uniforms, etc. They managed to purchase these items by developing their own fund-raising project. The girls sold stationary to everyone in sight and then they went after those in hiding.

This was the fifth year that the girls' track team has been in existence. However, the season record of 2-4 does not reflect the hard work or spirit of the girls. Miss Fahringer, as coach, hopes for a larger team and a better record next year.

Girls' Track Shows Enthusiasm

The softball team had a very disappointing year. They possessed potential but just could not "put it all together". This was the team's second year; and because of their lack of experience, they lost the six games they played. Loretta Popovic was captain of the team, which consisted of sophomores, juniors, and only one senior. Sharon Naftzger made several outstanding plays and was voted most valuable player.

The home games were played at Richmond Field and umpired by teachers.

Varsity C Makes Better Athletes

The purpose of the Varsity C Club is to promote better athletics. This is done by the requirement that all members must have earned a letter. All prospective members must also agree to conduct themselves according to the standards becoming an athlete.

The Club had a paper drive as a fund raising project. The money was used to purchase two large horses to decorate the outside of the school.

One of the duties of Varsity C Club is to sell programs at sports events. Another of their duties is to serve at banquets given at the school.

Members benefit from belonging to the club because it builds up their sense of sportsmenship and regard for all sports.

Y-Teens Engage In Many Activities

The Y-Teens is a branch of the Y.W.C.A. devoted to helping their fellow man. Their activities included decorating the school for Christmas, donating money for the Apple Creek Project, putting on a Christmas program for the Lodi Mothers Club, a trip to Washington, D.C., a dance at Rustic Hills Country Club, and a basketball game with the F.H.A.

They had many money-making projects which included two bake sales, a car wash, and a candy sale. The Y-Teens gave the money from the candy sale to the Y.M.C.A. - Y.W.C.A. building fund to help pay for the new swimming pool.

The officers were Paula Wilson, President; Pam Bangert, Vice-President; Kathy Craddock, Secretary; and Pam Bates, Treasurer. The advisor this year was Mrs. Snell.

The Girls In The

The pom-pon girls, commonly known as the C.H.S. Coltdiggers, provided a bright spot of entertainment in both the football and basketball season.

The football "pom-pomners", for the first time, performed as a part of the band. The pep band provided the background music for the basketball "pomponmers".

Band Performs At Acme Zip Game

The Cloverleaf High School Marching Band matched the football team in performance and skill this year. The eighty bandsmen and seven majorettes worked hard to make this year's halftime shows more enjoyable than they were in previous years. Mr. Hofstetter attributes this improvement to their desire and personal initiative. Practicing two hours every night helped to make the band a well-disciplined group.

In attempt to add variety in the half time shows, Mr. Hofstetter created new dance routines. Mr. Hofstetter was pleased with the inclusion of the Pom-Pon girls because it gave more people a chance to perform. They were a good addition and accomplished the band wherever they performed. He also commented that his two years here have been the most enjoyable in his teaching career, due to the types of boys and girls he has a chance to work with.

The performance of the mini-mini band at noon hour helped to liven school spirit.

One of the highlights of the season was the patriotic tribute to the Ohio State Marching Band. They featured formations first developed by the Ohio State Marching Band.

The greatest thrill of the season for the band members, came when they performed at the Akron Rubber Bowl for the Acme Zip game. They were one of seven bands performing there. It was commented by one of the band members that ours was the best band there.

It is the hope of Mr. Hofstetter and all the returning band members to play at a pro football game next year. If the band is as successful next year as it has been this year, we feel sure their hope will be fullfilled.

"Sing Along With Mr. Jewell"

The chorus this year, under the direction of Mr. James Jewell, gave many fine performances. Consisting of seventy-four members it sang at a Christmas concert, the spring pop concert, and at Baccalaureate.

The mixed ensemble, made up of twenty people, had an equally successful year. They performed at the Christmas concert, pop concert, and also for the Music Associates. The ensemble went to the Solo and Ensemble Festival and received a 1, the highest rating. They also sang at Commencement exercises.

A new honor this year, the John Philipp Sousa Choral Award, was presented to Dale Richard at the Music Associates Banquet. This award is presented to the most talented and dedicated member of chorus.

I.O.E. And Future Secretaries Go Together

Intensified Office Education teaches students the on-the-job responsibilities of office work. The I. O. E. Club consists of any steno or clerical pupil who wants to join. Proving that offices need men working in them, Dave Berry was president of I. O. E. Club this year. Sue Craddock, junior, was Vice-President. Donna Dearth and Sandy Faulkner took over duties of secretary and treasurer.

The club's advisors, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Ziebro, and Mr. Kovach, organized several seccessful activities. The biggest was a candle drive which brought in over $700.00 for the club. For entertainment, there was a Halloween Party in Westfield Center and a dinner party at Cathedral of Tomorrow. Representatives from two business colleges and stenographers from Westfield Companies spoke to the group.

The Newspaper Revival Is Here!

The 1971-72 school year saw an old and forgotten class revived. Journalism, a course which was inactive since 1963 was placed under the direction of Miss Lynn Tschudy. The first nine week period was used to instruct the class in the ways of journalism. Since then, the staff has produced a bi-monthly newspaper, THE HORSESHOE HERALD.

Kevin Rice was chosen as editor. Lynn Foth and Jim McGonnell (News Editors), Mark Chrislip (Sports Editor), Ken Lett and Tom Smucker (Humor Editors), Regi Carter and Robin Nichols (Feature Editors) assisted him. Diane Brown created the comic strip "Harold Horseshoe" for the newspaper. Along with a staff of 19, these people renewed the art of journalism.

The newspaper provided news coverage, creative writings such as short-short stories and poetry, humorous creations, features on students and school personnel, and editiorials on topics which were sometimes very controversial.

The 1971-72 year was a success for the HORSESHOE HERALD, with a bright promise of a great future.

Step right up for your HORSESHOE HERALD.

101 "Fun" Ways To Break Bones

As President of the Ski Club, Marty Coudriet spent a lot of time looking for snow.

The weatherman's forecasts during the winter of 1971-72 were a disappointment to the skiers around Ohi But no group of ski buffs was more dejected than the ski club of Cloverleaf. Every Monday they planned a trip to Clear Ford or some other ski area. But nearly every Monday the trip was cancelled because there was no snow. Then there was an occasional surprise when they did get to go enjoy a little winter sun and snow.

Mr. Wiedeman, the club's advisor, was fortunate enough to go skiing one weekend on his own. Unfortunately he tore a ligament in his knee in the process. Also a small group of the members of the club went or trip to the Alleghany State Park for a weekend of skiing

Since the Cloverleaf Ski Club has only been around for two years, you would think that the membership would drop after an almost snowless winter. But the members were determined to stick with it and it looks like Cloverleaf skiers will be around for awhile.

Classes

The students of Cloverleaf Senior High School have, in this past year, shown more loyalty and school spirit than any other trio of classes that have been in it. The students of the classes of '72, '73, and '74 have come together in an effort to improve their school and its reputation by the many activities they participated in. Their achievements will not be forgotten for many years.

Kim Koerber feels alone in a crowd on the opening day of school.

Sophomores Look At Years Ahead

When the 1971 summer came to an end, students began getting ready for the return to the classrooms. For the sophomore class this meant coming to the high school for a day of orientation. They spent a fascinating day finding where their lockers were, learning the arrangement of the room numbers, and getting their schedules for the oncoming year.

With the number of students in the high school growing almost by the day, the "class of 74" was the largest class in the history of the school with a membership of almost three hundred.

The new students soon became acquainted with the way things are done at the high school. Sophomores were initiated into clubs such as G.A.A. and Varsity C. The upper classes, already familiar with these rituals, were given a chance to ridicule and poke fun at the "greenies".

In the course of the school year, elections gave the "class of 74" a chance to elect new class officers, mem bers to student council, and an opportunity to select a class ring. The class officers were: Roger Bise, President; Larry Lance, Vice-President; Sheila Underwood, Secretary; and Valerie Markley, Treasurer.

The sophomores showed their school spirit by winning the spirit stick at the pep rallies. They helped the school by participating in many drives and joining man of the clubs and organizations offered to them.

Looking towards the future, everyone hopes that in the years to come the new classes of our school will have as much school spirit as the "class of 74".

Class Of 1973 Again Proves Itself

When the Junior Class of 1971-1972 returned to school at the end of the summer, they found that little had been changed from the previous year. There were, as always, the annual crop of new teachers to get acquainted with and student teachers from surrounding colleges to help through their first teaching experiences.

As the year progressed, however, things began to happen. The success of the school in sports brought renewed spirit and loyalty. The "Class of 73" showed its spirit by winning the sign contest.

After the first semester had passed, the Juniors faced the problem of creating a theme for the prom and then making that prom a reality. Their efforts were rewarded by what many called the most successful prom in the history of the school. The theme, "Gay Nineties," was presented with a great deal of imagination and style.

The Junior Class officers were often challenged with many new jobs. Steve Wanko served as President; Bill Bond, as Vice-President; Pam Bangert, as Secretary; and Sue Rom, as Treasurer.

The Juniors also added to the sports teams and organizations, and many of the year's activities were spearheaded by Juniors.

The "Class of 73" finished out the school year with the addition of many colorful morning announcements, and the theft of the Junior Class President's car out of the school parking lot. At 2:45 p.m., June 7, the Juniors could be heard sighing, "One more year!"

Their Last Year Is Most Active

The senior class of 1972 was one of the most enthusiastic classes ever to fill the halls of Cloverleaf. Despite that yearly ailment of senioritis, the class devoted its time to many school projects. For the annual canned food drive, the seniors donated the largest amount of cans. Of course no one can forget that this class had the veteran athletes who made 1972 the "Year Of The Colt".

They displayed outstanding dramatic and musical talent. Approximately forty seniors worked on the class play, EVERYBODY LOVES OPAL. With only six acting parts, this kind of participation was tremendous. For the first time, Cloverleaf, led by seniors, participated in drama competition in the area and state. They also comprised over half the cast of the spring musical, MUSIC MAN. Several members of the class worked to produce the musical. They helped to build sets, make constumes, and publicize the show.

Usually, at the end of the year, the seniors' aim is to finish classes, homework, and graduate. This year their goal was forgotten for a week as they staged a mock primary election. The social studies classes each selected a candidate and campaigned for a week. They had posters, signs, and announcements which brought the reality of the actual primary election to the student body.

This was the first class to come together in junior high school instead of high school. As a result, they have worked together to make this one of the top classes to attend Cloverleaf. The class officers: Dan Richard, President; Janet Siders, Vice-President; Marilyn Stager, Secretary; and Julie Yergin, Treasurer; devoted themselves to making this the most memorable high school year they've ever experienced.

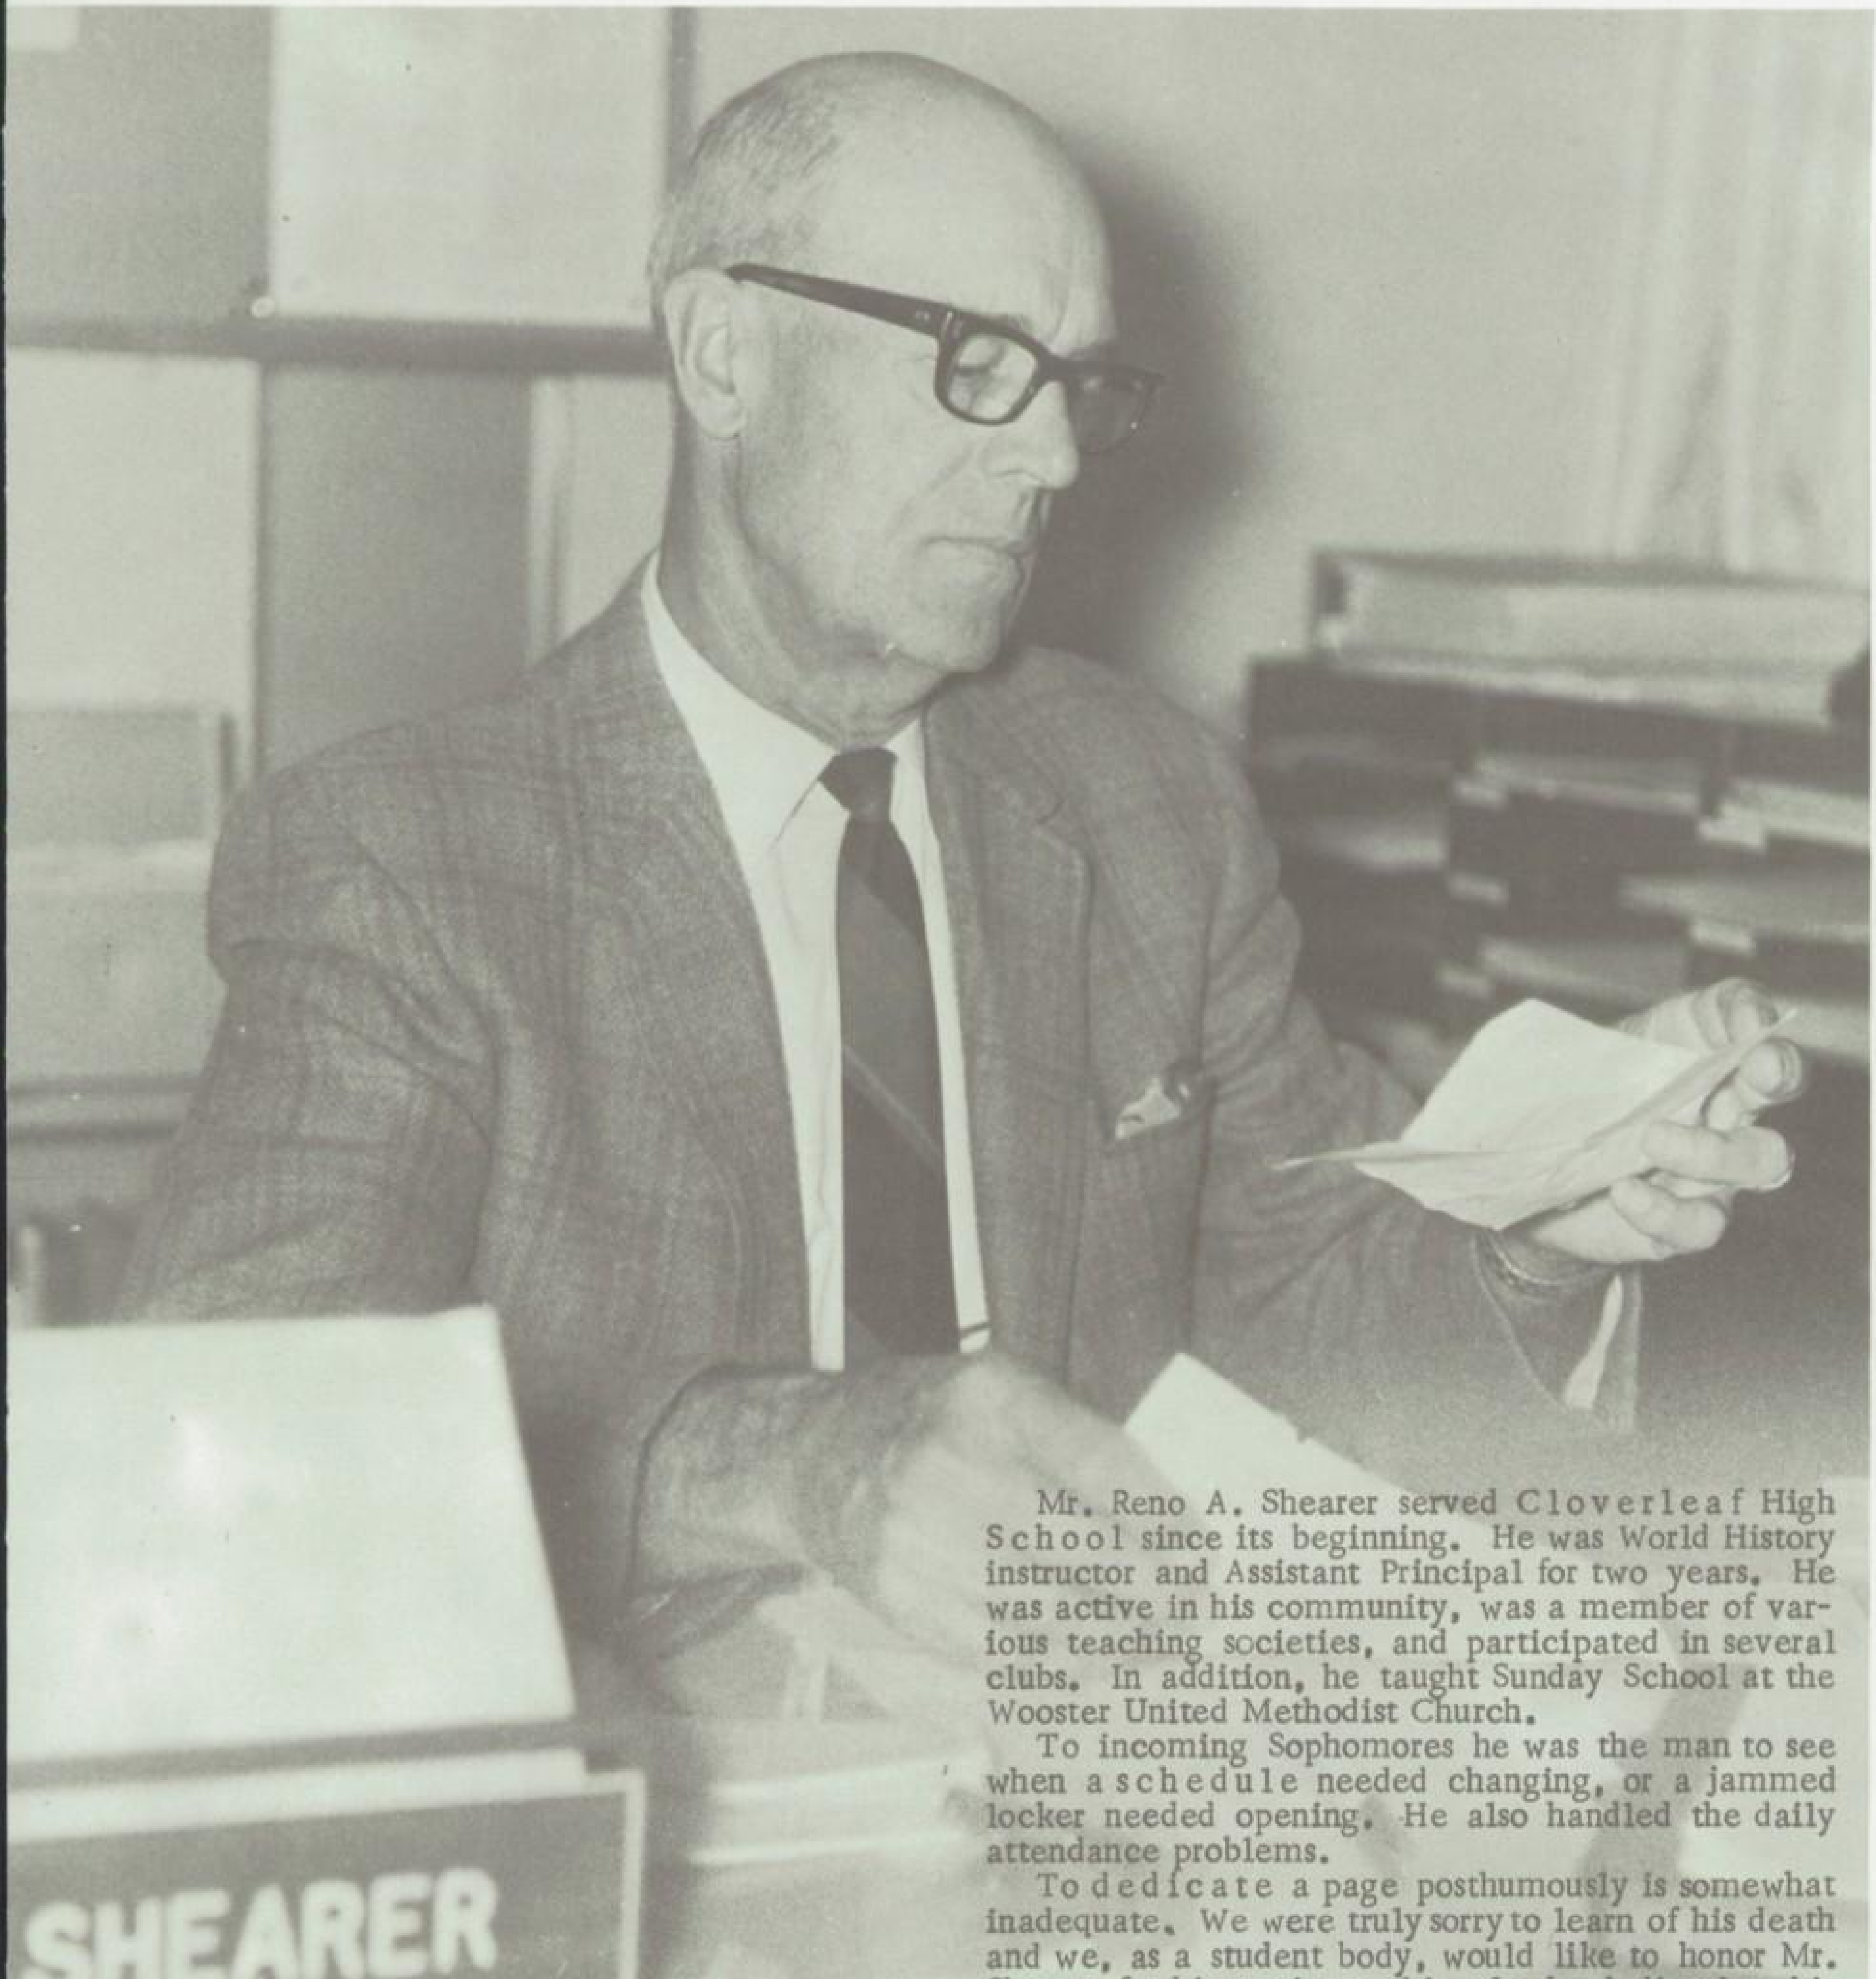
The Student Body Pays Homage



Mr. Reno A. Shearer served Cloverleaf High School since its beginning. He was World History instructor and Assistant Principal for two years. He was active in his community, was a member of various teaching societies, and participated in several clubs. In addition, he taught Sunday School at the Wooster United Methodist Church.

To incoming Sophomores he was the man to see when a schedule needed changing, or a jammed locker needed opening. He also handled the daily attendance problems.

To dedicate a page posthumously is somewhat inadequate. We were truly sorry to learn of his death and we, as a student body, would like to honor Mr. Shearer for his service and loyalty be dedicating this space to him.

Faculty

The faculty promotes unification of the school by instilling within the students pride in themselves and their school. From this pride develops a sense of respect for one another.

Teachers feel that the purpose of school is to accumulate knowledge and to learn how to apply it when faced by problems both now and in the future. They work together and paly an important role in the formation of student character.

Superintendent

Administration

The five members of the Cloverleaf Local Board of Education are elected at large by the voters in the whole school district. The Board of Education is a policy-making group. They meet regularly on the first Monday of each month. All meetings are open to the public.

The superintendent of schools is appointed by the local board of education to serve as the chief executive officer of the board of education.

The superintendent of schools is assisted by an administrative assistant, an elementary supervisor, and the principals of the grade schools, the junior high school, and the senior high school in the development and fulfillment of the students in Cloverleaf Local School District.

Accomplishments Of Learning

Eleven new teachers were added to the Cloverleaf High School teaching staff this year. Six of these are just out of college; the other five have come to us from different schools.

Many of these teachers have different reasons for making teaching their career. Some are interested in the subject and what it has to do with bettering today's world. Still others are interested in people and their personalities, thoughts, and ideas. Teachers have personal reasons for teaching. They feel that they are giving students a better chance to progress in today's society if they give them a greater understanding of education. The instructor of a course attempts to provide for the individual needs, interests, and abilities of all students who are seeking to learn more about a subject matter. The teacher does this by providing various learning experiences based around a specific them with an ultimate goal in mind.

Most teachers fell that extracurricular activities are a vital part of today's educational program. The clubs, organizations, and sports activities can provide the most memorable experiences in a school program.

Advertising

We would like to extend our thanks at this time to the many people who made this book possible. As far as coming together is concerned, they really did a fine job, as our ad totals jumped to over $1800.00. It was a large responsibility to place on the business world, but there was no doubt in our minds as to whether they would succeed. Again, we express our gratitude to the people who financed this book, the advertisers and the subscribers.

When we were founded in 1848, a trip to the next county was a big event. But society has changed, and so have people's needs. Especially their need for insurance and financial security. To meet these needs our company has changed too --- ever trying to establish new standards of service while developing new programs for the security and protection of our customers.

We will continue to respond to change. Now and for the future, we're the Westfield Companies ---- Westfield Center, Ohio.

Editorial Comment

This is the 1972 EQUESTRIAN, in its entirety. We, the staff, have attempted to present the events of the past school year as accurately and as completely as possible. We all hope we have succeeded in our endeavor. Our success, however, will not be measured as the book is read this year or in 1973 or 1974. The true measure of our success will be 10 or 20 years from now. We will only truly be able to judge our work when an alumnus opens the 1972 EQUESTRIAN in 1985 and exclaims, "Oh yes, I'd forgotten that!" or perhaps, "Why I remember that!" If just one person has such a reaction, our goal will have been accomplished. Please judge us fairly. We hope that this year's annual meets your expectations.

The 1971-72 school year will be measured, pondered over and evaluated quite a bit by experts and amateurs, alike. The reports of the experts are important, but in the long run, the reports of the students are the only really lasting ones. The success or failure of a school year is measured by the students and how well prepared they are to face "Life". Our graduates are, in one sense, very well prepared. For the most part, however, they are lacking the fundamental skills to govern themselves properly in our society. True, they have the required 17 credits, history, English, math, science, and one elective, completed before such and such a date, etc. Courses completed in a class room are a necessity. Cloverleaf students lack knowledge in self-government that so many schools have provided for. High school is a mini-society, with its own problems. The students are very much a part of those problems and should have a voice in their solution.

We have a student council at C.H.S.; the problem is they don't do much of anything. Their lack of action isn't due entirely to its members; most of the responsibility rests upon the administration. Students are not allowed to come to Student Council meetings because they are held during school time. Students don't know exactly what is discussed or not discussed because they read edited minutes. Most student representatives are elected, not on the basis of qualifications, but rather on popularity. In addition, apathy is heightened because the monthly meetings can be cancelled simply because someone forgot to put the time in the "Whinnies". The last thing the Student Council really did was to change an outdated dress code two years ago.

Why, if students have similar and valid complaints, haven't these things been changed? One or two students may approach the student council or the principal. It their request alters the status quo, favoring the students, it goes no farther than the principal. The student council has no power to enact a change, even if they, the student boyd, and even the faculty favor the plan. A new plan of student government was proposed early in 1972. The majority of the students never knew one thing about this. The plan embodied the changes long called for by the students, such as a better means of electing students, representatives, no absolute veto for the administration, faculty representatives, a nonvoting student representative to the school board and last but not least, meetings open to all. All of these reforms have been requested, in various forms over the last three years. Once again, why has no change resulted?

Cloverleaf students have the ability to change the things they dislike. A strong group, working together, can make unbelievable changes in Cloverleaf. Changes which would give students more freedom at school and at the same time give students more responsibility. History has a plentiful store of facts that prove how affectively groups of persons can change things. It is true that in order to reform anything at Cloverleaf, personal problems and class rivalries must be put aside. Leadership must be assumed by someone who knows what is needed yet someone who can lead democratically in order to keep the group together. With almost 800 people at C.H.S., there should be little difficulty in finding at least one person to get the job done.

The students are not asking for complete control of the school. The old adage, "Give them an inch and they'll talk a mile," does not apply here either. At the scholarship banquet held in May, a prominent member of the high school administration said, in essence, that the purpose of education was not simply the knowledge of facts. Basically, this man said that high school was intended to teach young people HOW to put learned facts into practical use in everyday life. One of the many everyday things we will soon be called upon to do is plan our own government. We will have to make decisions which will affect our daily lives to a much greater extent than many decisions we made in high school. We will be hampered in our attempts to govern ourselves if we have no experience to fall back on. Adults are always saying how mature high school students are. They frequently comment that Cloverleaf students are so polite and courteous, that we really act older than our years. Yet we cannot have a voice in our high school government. A double standard has existed for us for too many years. It is time for us to change that standard.

Our lack of cooperation can be overcome. We have the ability to alter the things that need altering. Work together to bring about the reforms you students are constantly harping on. Do not demand complete control of Cloverleaf. Do ask, with respect, for reforms that will enable you to decide for yourselves certain aspects of your education. Above all- do not lose interest. If you encounter a "No" find out why. Perhaps alterations can be made that will please both sides. Try again, however, until a workable change has been acoomplished. Do not give up because people put obstacles in your path. Problems must be surmounted and you can do it. But remember it takes hard work and patience. Don't give up and good luck.
